KRPA Focuses on Making Recreation and Parks a Priority at 2013 Conference

Landscape Structures-sponsored speaker discusses place making in park designs
Delano, Minn. (Jan. 24, 2013) — Landscape Structures Inc., a Delano, Minn.-based commercial playground manufacturer, along with its playground consultant in Kansas, ATHCO, L.L.C., is scheduled to exhibit at the 2013 Kansas Recreation & Park Association Conference & Trade Show Jan. 28-31, in Manhattan. The conference will feature Mike Shellito, a retired employee of the City of Roseville, Calif., as the keynote speaker. This learning experience was made possible through the 2012-2013 State Association Speaker Scholarship program from Landscape Structures.

Shellito, a leader in city government and parks and recreation professions for more than 35 years, will present The Power of Place. Great parks and programs are lively places where people want to be, again and again. Parks and recreation is a place-based experience that makes people's lives better. In his keynote, Shellito will discuss how to put people first by using place-making principles to create parks, facilities and recreation programs that are more successful. Shellito recently retired as city manager for the City of Roseville, Calif., where he also served as the parks and recreation director. He has received numerous awards for his innovative and progressive approach to management, including the NRPA's Distinguished Service Award.

The 90-minute session will be presented on Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 8:30 a.m. Later on Tuesday, delegates will have the opportunity to visit ATHCO and Landscape Structures in the exhibit hall to learn about the latest trends in playground design including custom and theme designs, concrete as a playground material and creating truly inclusive play environments.
