Landscape Structures Partners with Surface America on Surfacing Solutions
Together, companies will continue providing playground and water play safety surfacing
Delano, Minn. (Sept. 10, 2015) — Landscape Structures Inc., the leading designer and manufacturer of commercial playground equipment, announced today that the company has partnered with Cheektowaga, N.Y.-based Surface America, the nation’s leading playground safety surfacing company. The corporate partnership will provide industry-best operations and installation excellence to both Landscape Structures and Surface America clients.

“We’re proud to partner with Surface America,” said Pat Faust, president of Landscape Structures. “Tapping into their expertise is extremely valuable for us as an organization. Our business approach aligns with Surface America’s, and there is a great cultural fit.”

Surface America has had long-term relationships with many Landscape Structures consultants, who will continue working directly with clients on the purchase of PebbleFlex® and AquaFlex® surfacing systems. The partnership will expand Landscape Structures expertise in playground and water play surfacing products and installation.

“Surface America is excited about the opportunity to partner with Landscape Structures,” said Jim Dobmeier, president and founder of Surface America. “Our team of surfacing specialists and installers look forward to delivering the quality products and services they’ve come to expect from Landscape Structures.”

The PebbleFlex and AquaFlex surfacing systems use an advanced bond-in-place technology where engineered pebbles bond together to create surfaces that stands up to the demands of weather extremes and active use. The resilient surfaces, which can be personalized with colors or customized graphics, are designed to enhance the play experience.
